What do the experts love?

You've probably already heard how great Microsoft tools are and all the amazing things they can do—which is why in this story, we decided to ask our experts what they love most about both Windows 11 and Microsoft 365.

Come with us as we focus on some of the less familiar yet amazing Microsoft features and tools to help empower your customers to achieve more.

More space to be YOU

First up, we really LOVE the new flow of Windows 11 and how you have more space to be yourself. Our experts especially love the touch experiences that give you more room between icons and the taskbar—allowing for gestures to be more productive (and less misinterpreted).

And if you're like a lot of other people who are used to Windows 10, Windows 11 allows you to increase or decrease the spacing between your items in File Explorer. Win-Win!

More AI assistance

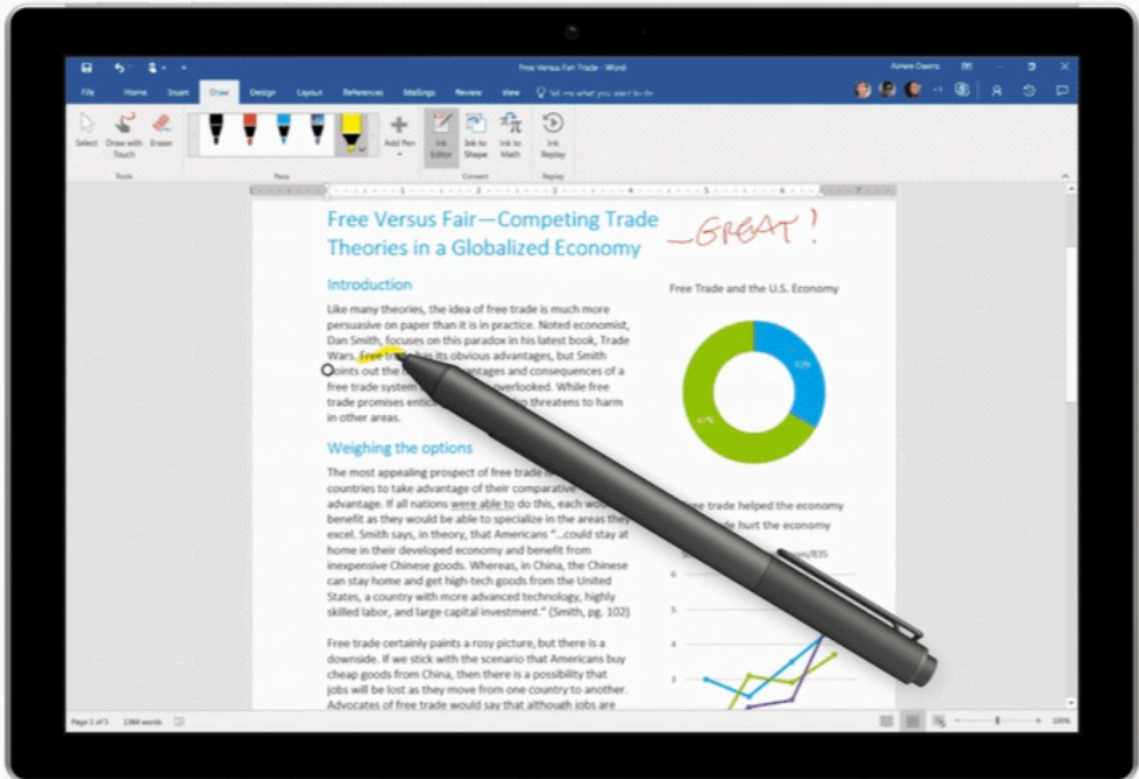

Microsoft’s mission is to empower every person and every organization on the planet to achieve more. That’s why our experts LOVE that Microsoft is investing in intelligent services in Microsoft 365.

Some of our favorite Microsoft 365 apps with AI features include QuickStarter and Speaker Coach (formerly Presenter Coach) in PowerPoint, Quick Analysis in Excel, and Microsoft Editor (Microsoft 365 subscription may be required).

More writing help

Speaking of AI, it's never been easier to elevate your writing in Word with real-time intelligent assistance. We LOVE features like Ink Editor in Microsoft 365 that allow you to quickly and easily make corrections.

And with the built-in Research tool (available to Microsoft 365 subscribers only), you can research and add citations to your document. Students can even use it to create their bibliography, potentially saving hours of work!

More security

You may already know that Personal Vault is a protected area in OneDrive you can only access with a second step of identity verification—like your fingerprint, face, PIN, or a code

But did you know that only Microsoft 365 subscribers have the ability to restore their files if they're ever deleted, overwritten, or corrupted? And they have the ability to add as many files as they want? Amazing! LOVE it!

More relaxing sounds

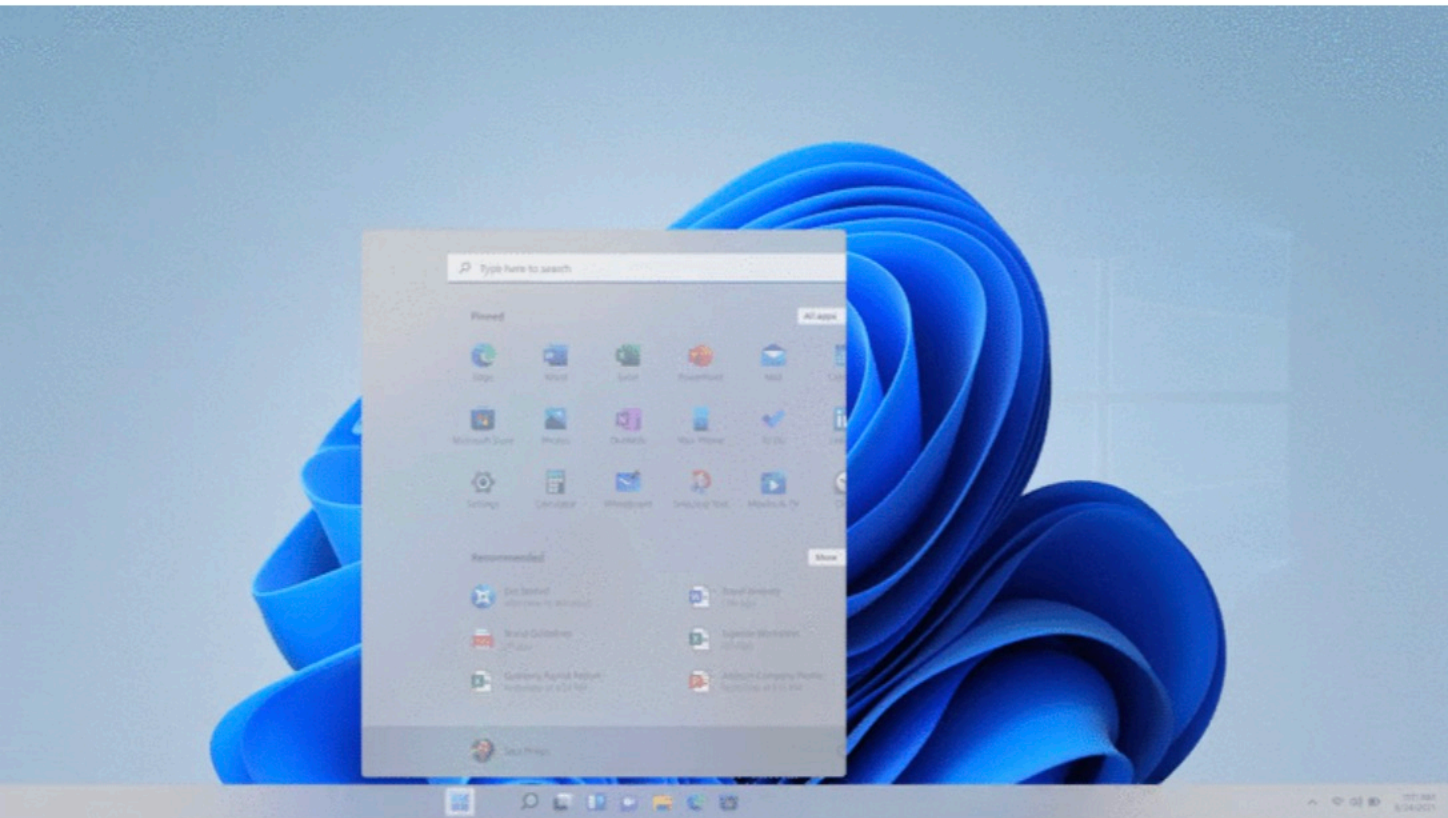

If you're someone who tends to get stressed out with constant rings and notifications, the new, more soothing sounds in Windows 11 are definitely something to LOVE.

Described as having a much rounder wavelength with the ability to still alert you without being overwhelming—our experts give the new, less stressful Windows 11 sounds two thumbs up!

More app compatibility

Our experts LOVE the compatibility Windows 11 offers them with their favorite applications and programs!

If you're like a lot of other people, even though you've decided to make the move to Windows 11, you still have programs on your computer you'd like to continue using. Well, with Windows 11, you likely can.

More accessible than ever

With tools that help you see, focus, hear, and comprehend, both Windows 11 and Microsoft 365 have accessibility settings and features our experts LOVE.

And what's not to love? With tools like Accessibility Checker, you can help ensure you're providing everyone with equal access and opportunity to utilize your content as you intended.

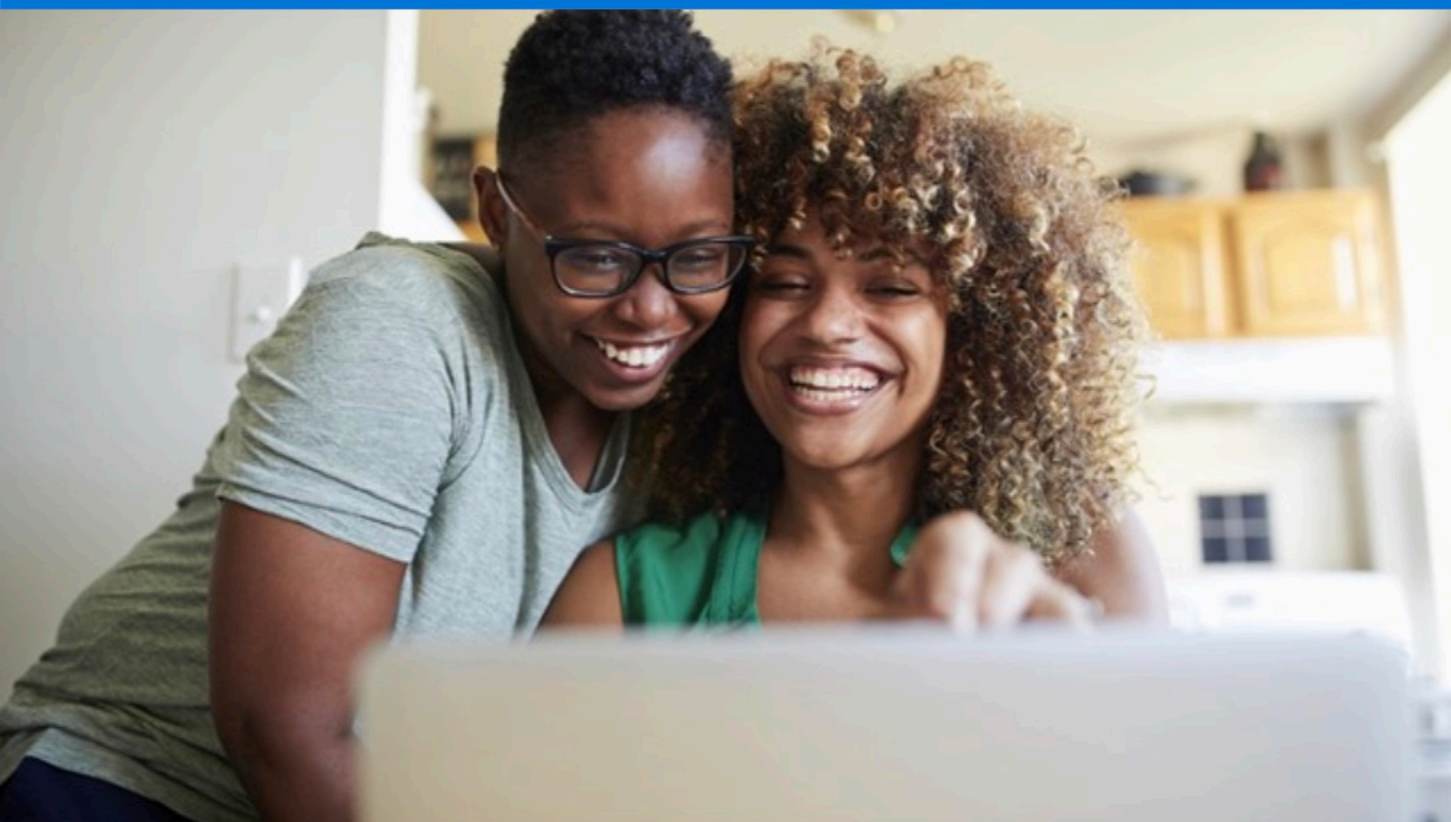

More Microsoft 365

Imagine sitting down to create your latest masterpiece and realizing your Microsoft 365 subscription just expired. Noooooo!

That's why our experts LOVE the ability to Auto Renew Microsoft 365. Right there, in-store, customers can agree to be automatically charged for another year, giving them ultimate peace of mind their work won't be interrupted by having to sign up again. And if circumstances change, they can cancel any time. LOVE it!

More experiences to LOVE

While we all may define love a little differently, one thing our experts agree on is that Microsoft experiences bring you closer to what you love most—family, friends, passions, entertainment, and creations.

Great tools like Windows 11 and Microsoft 365 bring it all together.
